

THE LEFTOVERS AGAIN

[Door opens] [Turns off water] [Man crying] [Sobbing quietly]
[Knocks on door]

KEVIN
Hey, you OK? [Panting] [Mumbling]
Jesus Christ.

MARK
Just sitting here. Too many woes.

KEVIN
Listen, don't move.

MARK
Please, what's your name? -

KEVIN Kevin.

MARK Kevin.

KEVIN
You need help.

MARK
No, Kevin, Kevin, I'm gonna be dead in a minute. There's no help for me.[Mark grunts] So, please, don't leave me alone.

KEVIN
Sure. Yeah, yeah.

MARK
Thank you.

KEVIN
I'm right here.

MARK
Thank you. Will you do something for me? A favor stranger to stranger? Will you will you make a wish?

KEVIN
A what?

MARK

I think I may be a fraud. But but if if I'm not, I can give you anything you want and [groans] that will mean I was real. Let me do this f for you before I go. Make a wish. You don't have to say it out loud. Just think it.

KEVIN thinks to himself quietly. MARK looks into his soul and is filled with wonder.

MARK

Oh. Granted.